

Edward J. Bloustein School
of Planning and Public Policy

ENGAGING COMMUNITIES: BUILDING CAPACITY FOR BROWNFIELDS REDEVELOPMENT IN CDCs

Edward J. Bloustein School,
33 Livingston Avenue
New Brunswick, New Jersey
Friday, April 4, 2008 - 8 AM - 5 PM

Welcome Colleagues in Planning, Community Development, Brownfields, CDCs!
Welcome researchers and students!

On April 4, 2008, the National Center for Neighborhood and Brownfields Redevelopment hosts the most significant regional workshop of the year, Engaging Communities: Building Capacity for Brownfields Redevelopment in CDCs.

The workshop features discussions of emerging issues from economic, environmental and community perspectives along with a training session introducing the new NCNBR technical assistance modules for engaging CDCs in brownfields redevelopment. Participants will gain insights into the latest developments in New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York and receive hands-on training. Planners can also earn 4.5 hours of APA approved CM Credits!

A lively opening session features Commissioners Lisa Jackson (NJDEP) and Joe Doria (NJDCA) along with Tracy Vernon (PADEP) and Special Counsel Mark McIntyre from NYC Mayor Bloomberg's Office of Environmental Coordination.

Lunch will be at the new Heldrich Hotel. Assemblyman Joseph Vas, Chair of the Assembly Commerce and Economic Development Committee, will give the luncheon keynote remarks.

Additional Speakers will present at the closing session and join the participants for a reception to meet session participants and catch up with colleagues.

To register online visit: <http://policy.rutgers.edu/brownfields/>

A detailed workshop agenda and on-line registration <http://www.policy.rutgers.edu/brownfields/>

Research Funded by the US Environmental Protection Agency