

AIDS: Economic, Social, and Political Aspects

Course #34:832: 600:01; 832:496:02

Fall 2009

Class meets: Wednesday (5/6)

Class meets: Room: Civic Square Rm 170

E-mail: turshen@rci.rutgers.edu

Professor Meredith Turshen

Office hours: MW 12-2

Office: CSB Rm 552

Phone: 932-4101 X681

This new seminar is designed for graduate students and senior undergraduates interested in the economic, social, and political aspects of the global AIDS epidemic. The goal is to develop students' knowledge of the economic, political, and social aspects of AIDS, the global context of AIDS health problems and health care, and the background to the AIDS epidemic.

Summary

Week 1. Sep. 2	Introduction to the economic, social, and political aspects of AIDS
2. Sep. 9	The Global Epidemic
3. Sep. 16	AIDS and poverty
4. Sep. 23	AIDS and national security
5. Sep. 30	Social fallout
6. Oct. 7	Sexuality, violence, stigma
7. Oct. 14	AIDS vs other health priorities
8. Oct. 21	International aid programs
9. Oct. 28	Costs of caring
10. Nov. 4	The pharmaceutical industry
11. Nov. 11	Delivering care
12. Nov. 18	AIDS and activism causes
13. Dec. 2	Solving the AIDS problem by addressing root
14. Dec. 9	Student country presentations