

International Development and Reconstruction: The Role of a Large Planning Firm

Nicholas J. Masucci

November 1, 2007, 5:30 p.m.
Special Events Forum, Civic Square Building

Nicholas J. Masucci

As President and CEO of Berger Group Holdings, Inc., Nicholas Masucci is responsible for the strategic direction and financial oversight of one of the largest consulting engineering firms in the United States. He will lecture on the Berger Group's experience with international development, including its involvement with the reconstruction of Afghanistan.

Berger Group Holdings, Inc. owns The Louis Berger Group, Inc., ENDER, and Berger Devine Yaeger, Inc., Ammann & Whitney, Berger/ABAM, Klohn Crippen and the investments in VMS and EA Engineering Science and Technology. The Louis Berger Group offers professional services in the areas of civil, structural, mechanical, electrical and environmental engineering; program management; planning; environmental sciences; cultural resources; information services; economics; policy and management analysis; and construction management and support.

Mr. Masucci's knowledge of infrastructure and sound management practices allowed him to create not just successful companies, but also new products that fill a special need in today's marketplace. He has adapted generally accepted private sector business methods and developed systems to create a program to manage infrastructure using an investment perspective.

Please RSVP by October 29 by phone, 732.932.3640, ext. 638; or e-mail, douge@rci.rutgers.edu

Edward J. Bloustein School of Planning and Public Policy

The Edward J. Bloustein School of Planning and Public Policy focuses Rutgers' educational and research programs that have established national and international reputations for excellence in urban planning, urban studies, public health, and public policy.

RUTGERS

Edward J. Bloustein School of Planning and Public Policy