- Next Year's Suggestions:
 - Continue Professional Development Series
 - Have longer sessions earlier in the semester, such as the Facilitation/Negotiation workshop
 - Need to assign someone to head the Professional Development Series
 - Use events that were used last year, particularly ones that are 2-3 hours for skills that are not taught in class
 - Welcome week: a minor-league baseball game, Delaware Water Gap hike, board game night, kickball, bowling, mini golf, extend events to the next week, at the shore the following weekend, the possibility of renting 15-passenger vans from Rutgers, tailgating at a home football game (possibly coordinate with alumni for a Bloustein tailgate), some community service events
 - Kyle suggested we reach out to other graduate planning programs, perhaps by setting up happy hours in New York City and Philadelphia
 - Lauren will look into joining these cities' student planning organizations
 - Have some way to more formally allow students to give input on classes before the schedule goes up for the next semester. Perhaps set up a meeting with Professor Burchell. Also, develop an ongoing list of potential studios.
- Administration is developing new website
- 20th Anniversary: administration will need volunteers throughout the year next year.
